REGULATIONS FOR CALIFORNIA'S GASOLINE EMERGENCY

In light of the state of emergency now existing in the counties of Los Angeles, Orange, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, San Mateo, Riverside, Santa Clara and Ventura, and pursuant to the authority vested in me to promulgate, issue and enforce rules, regulations and orders, I deem the following amended rules and regulations necessary for the protection of life and property:

SAM 123
123 SAM
MARIE
KAM 2345
12345J
J12345

2. At the retail level, gasoline may be dispensed into vehicles with a license plate whose last (or only) digit is an even number (0, 2, 4, 6 and 8) only on even numbered days of the month, that is, on the second, fourth, sixth, eighth, tenth and so on. Examples of even number plates are as follows:

SAM 132
DAVE 2
2 MARY
KMA 3456
01234J
J01234
W6ABC

3. For any calendar month in which there are 31 days, sales may be made on the thirty-first day of the month without regard to the registration plates of the motor vehicle.

4. Gasoline shall not be sold to any vehicle that has more than one-half tankful of gasoline. When requested by the gasoline attendant, the customer shall permit inspection of the fuel gauge with the ignition key in the "on" position.

State of California

5. When dispensing gasoline to the general public, gasoline retailers shall not refuse to sell gasoline to anyone, on appropriate odd or even days, except to refuse to sell gasoline to vehicles with more than one-half a tankful of fuel.
6. No general hours or days of operation are required by these regulations. However, each gasoline retailer shall clearly post by signs legible from off the premises his anticipated minimum business days and hours of operation for dispensing gasoline.

COMMENT:

Individual retailers are the best judges of the business days and hours that satisfy their customers' needs, and are encouraged to work out staggered hours of operation in common marketing areas. All gasoline suppliers are urged to refrain from establishing additional retail stations, and are urged not to reduce the gasoline supplies available to existing stations in order to supply unnecessary new stations.

7. Each gasoline retailer shall manage his monthly fuel allocation so that it will last through the month.

COMMENT:

The need for maximum and minimum purchase limits appears no longer necessary. Gasoline retailers are discouraged from establishing maximum or minimum purchase limits; however if limits are adopted, the retailer should clearly indicate those limits by signs legible from off the premises.

8. Each service station shall clearly indicate its gasoline supply and service situation by a sign or flag, easily visible from off the premises. If the flag system is used, the following will apply: Green flag--gasoline available for the general public (on appropriate days for appropriate license plates); yellow flag--gasoline available for emergency vehicles only; red flag--out of gasoline and/or closed. If the sign system is used, it should state the following, or equivalent information: Gasoline available--emergency vehicles only--out of gasoline and/or closed.
9. The following vehicles are exempt from the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of these orders:

ment of the gasoline retailer. Such sales shall be in the smallest practical quantity.

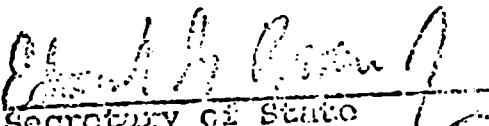

COMMENT:

Storage of gasoline in separate containers in the trunk of automobiles is an extremely dangerous practice.

OES RELEASE #7352
(amended)

On behalf of the Energy Planning Council, the Office of Emergency Services announces the following clarifications of the Emergency Gasoline Marketing Plan.

1. Vehicles used for commercial purposes: These guidelines were issued today for use by retailers in determining whether a vehicle is used for commercial purposes.
  - A. Vehicles which by their design, size, or recognizable company identification are obviously being used for commercial purposes.
  - B. Vehicles which are owned and operated as part of a company vehicle fleet as may be determined by company marking or the vehicle's registration.
  - C. Individually owned vehicles used for commercial purposes, as evidenced by the presence of specialized equipment, instruments, tools of the trade or profession, supplies or other material which cannot be readily carried by the vehicle operator on public transportation, or any other evidence that it is necessary to use the vehicle for commercial purposes.
2. Doctors and Nurses: No blanket exemption is made for doctors and nurses. However, when they are using their vehicles for professional purposes (such as special calls) their vehicles should be considered as those being used for commercial purposes and when using their vehicles for emergency calls they should be considered emergency vehicles. Physicians and nurses are expected to do the same planning in fueling their vehicles for private use as are other citizens. In extreme emergency situations, they can call upon taxis, ambulances, or the local law enforcement agency.
3. Appointments: "Sales by appointment only constitute discrimination under Section 210.62 of the Federal Petroleum Allocation and Price Regulations, unless he (the retailer) conducted his business by appointment only prior to January 15, 1972 in so far as he continues his pre-existing practice."
4. FEO regulations also prohibit stations from selling exclusively to commercial vehicles.
